Joey R. Martin established Martin Drafting & Design in 2003. Joey is an award winning residential designer with almost 20 years of building and design experience behind him. Since forming Martin Drafting & Design, we have worked many projects from coast to coast of various size and scope.

Joey is also very active with the National Association of Home Builders. As a nationally certified instructor, Joey travels the country when asked to provide education to builders and builder associates in the fields of Green Building, Aging in Place, and Business Management. Joey has achieved the designations of Certified Green Professional, Certified Aging in Place Specialist, and Certified Graduate Associate, one of the highest designations an associate can achieve within the NAHB.

Besides work, Joey stays active as a varsity football coach for Elwood High School, as well as working with youth baseball programs in various age groups. Joey enjoys spending time, when not working or coaching, with his wife Chris, and their children Victoria, Dillon, Chance, and Trevor.
