Karl Koning is the owner of Koning Designs in Renton, Washington, just south of Seattle. Karl is a Registered Architect and Certified Professional Building Designer. Serving on the Washington Society's Board since 2009, Karl is the current Vice-President and has held positions as Publicity and Membership Chair, and External Vice-President.

Earning his BA in Architecture at The University of New Mexico, Karl founded their Golden Key (Inter)National Honor Society chapter in 1983. He interned at a small architectural firm in Yakima, WA that specialized in designing educational facilities. As an intern and IT Manager, Karl enjoyed 15 years at the Seattle office of The Austin Company, a national design/build firm focused on Boeing and government industrial projects. These include Boeing's 777 expansion project in the early 90's.

Karl continued to practice residential design alongside these endeavors. His projects also included commercial tenant improvements which has become a current focus of Koning Designs.
